Figure 1. The number of cases reported for a given age group and sex from January 1, 2020, to March 1, 2020, by country. The x-axis shows the age group and sex, and the y-axis shows the number of cases. The data is presented as a bar chart where each bar represents a specific age group and sex combination for a particular country. The countries are color-coded: United States (red), Italy (blue), Spain (green), Germany (orange), France (purple), Iran (brown), China (pink), South Korea (grey), Japan (light blue), and Australia (yellow). The bars are arranged in descending order of total cases across all countries for each age group and sex category.
